THE CONSCRIPT.

A SKETCH OF THE LATE WAR.

M. A. W.

It is a beautiful evening in the early part of the month of May, 1863. The scene a retired part of the "Old Dominion," so retired that war, grim-visaged war, with his iron tread, that had caused such havoc in many portions of this once smiling State, seems to have been deterred, as it were, from entering this quiet valley by the everlasting hills that, like stern sentinels of the Omnipotent, have hedged it in. All nature, clad in its wondrous livery of green, seems on this bright evening to rejoice, that the winter is over and gone, the voice of the turtle heard in the land, while yon low farm-house, with wide opened door, the smoke curling lazily away from the chimney, seems, with true Virginia hospitality, to invite us to enter. We will do so, and take a view of its occupants, and listen to their conversation. Two little girls, seated in the doorway, are busily engaged in assorting some wild flowers, for the express amusement, it would seem, of their little chubby-faced brother, if we are to judge from the apparent delight he takes in disarranging them again. A young girl of fourteen or thereabout is sewing, while another, somewhat older, is assisting the mother of the group—a gentle, sad-faced woman—in preparing the evening meal, in expectation, it would appear, of the now absent son and brother; for one of the juvenile florists, holding up her boquet, exclaims: "Sister, do you think brother Sammy will be pleased with these? for oh! we worked so hard to get them." "Yes, darling, brother Sammy will be delighted, I have no doubt,; and you are both dear children to be so thoughtful of one who does so much for us all." The aged grandmother, seated in the old arm chair with her knitting, responds—"Yes, children, you may well do all you can to show your love to Sammy; for since your dear father died what has he not done in order to drive want from our fireside? Were it not for his exertions, under the blessing of our Heavenly Father, we would not to-day be the united, happy family that we are; and God grant that the cruel war now raging in the land may never be permitted to enter the sacred precincts of this our home, by taking the 'light of our eyes' to bleed and perhaps die upon a bloody field! I have fears though," she continued, "that as the boy is now eighteen, he will be conscripted to fill up the broken ranks of the Confederacy. But, hark! I hear the rumbling of wheels—he is coming, and we will soon know the worst."

A young man of tall and commanding presence now enters, whom, had we not heard his grandparent say he was eighteen, we would pronounce older; for rarely is a form seen more fully developed than that of the young Virginian. He is very much excited, as we can see from the restless flashing of his dark eyes; while his raven locks are tossed back in disorder from his youthful brow. None of the family, however, are forgotten in his greeting. He has a word for all, while the wildwood offering of his little sisters is by no means overlooked, as he caresses the lovely donors, and takes up in his arms the little pet Willie. Missing some one apparently, he asks for Annie. He is answered by the entrance of a lovely maiden, who approaches with slow and uncertain steps; for beautiful as are those eyes, fringed by the long and curling lashes, we discover that Annie is blind. As he greets her with more than usual tenderness, and then leads her to a seat, it is pitiful to see the look of mute inquiry on those eloquent features raised now to his own.

"I am a conscript!" are the next words, almost inaudible. Death-like silence reigns. "Mother, can you not bid your son 'God speed' on his weary way? Sisters, have you no word of consolation for me? Grandmother, will you not give me your parting blessing, for soon, very soon, must I bid you all adieu, as the regiment to which our company belongs marches to-morrow, to join Lee's forces. Oh! you little know or realize what is enacting outside this valley, or what scenes I have witnessed during the three days I have been absent from you, and God grant that you never may! In vain did I speak of my valley home and the dear ones dependent upon me. My orders were to be on hand without delay. Annie, my twin sister; it breaks my heart to think of leaving you in your affliction," and entirely overcome by the sobs of agony all around him, the young man, unable to proceed, bowed his face upon his hands, and wrestled with his great sorrow. Oh! who that gazed upon the scene of quiet beauty, formed by that house, nestling in its framework of hills, as revealed by the pale moonbeams, at a later hour on this eventful night, would dream of the wealth of woe compressed within its walls, as its inmates passed the hours that intervened 'till dawn, in providing, as far as in them lay, for the future comfort of the loved one, who was fly the relentless hand of war about to be torn from their embrace. How the tears, in spite of all their efforts, would fall as one by one they stole on tip-toe to the bed—on which he had thrown himself at their entreaties, to snatch a few hours of rest before he began his long march—to take a last look upon that loved face, while the poor blind girl knelt the live-long night in prayer for his safe return. And let them weep, aye, shed bitter tears; for he who leaves that roof, ere the morrow's sun shall have tinged the mountains that girdle the spot, will never more return! No more will the evening repast be spread for Sammy, nor sweet spring flowers gathered by the hand of affection, for him exhale their fragrance! Let them weep, we say, for even the privilege of bedewing the turf 'neath which he reposes, shall be to them denied; for he soon shall sleep the last, long sleep, that knows no waking 'till the Resurrection morn, far from his early home! * * *

Visit with us the plains of Gettysburg on the evening of the 2d day of July, following the events we have recorded. What mean those unusual sights and sounds?—those fires lighted on every hill top—those groans and sobs of mortal agony, borne to our ears by the passing breeze? Two powerful armies have here been contending all day, and now, encamped around their watchfires, are those who have survived. Some conversing—it may be of their comrades, whose groans we have heard, who fell during that awful day, when the very heavens seemed to tremble and the earth to quake with the shock of the contending hosts; while others, wrapped in slumber, dream of their far off homes. At one of these, seated apart from his comrades, we behold the young Virginian, perusing once more the only letter he has as yet received from home. Scarce two months have elapsed since he bade them farewell, but what ages seem to have crowded in that short space of time, as murmuring a prayer for them, he wraps his blanket about him and sinks into a troubled sleep.

"'Tis morn, but scarce yon lurid sun
Can pierce the war clouds rolling dun."

All day the battle rages, and when night closes the scene, the moon looks down upon thousands of wounded, dead and dying, and her pale, sad rays linger lovingly on the pale face, and nestle caressingly in the damp curls of the wounded boy, who but the night before, with a prayer on his lips, had sunk to sleep to dream of the dear ones at home.

It was on the seventh or eighth of July that a friend and myself, on visiting the hospital, saw the subject of our sketch. Sammy had received a wound that entirely paralyzed him—he could move his arms, but in every other respect was entirely helpless. He manifested, however, a strong desire to recover. It was pitiful to see that strong form brought so low, and when he would tell the story of his youth and the short time that had elapsed since his conscription, tears could be seen to gather in eyes all unused to weep. The surgeons had forbidden the attendants to give him any water, and the beseeching look with which he would beg visitors to give him but a drop will never be forgotten. Whenever a lady would pass by the place where he lay—(his couch was formed of boards placed side by side on the desks in the school-house)—his countenance would brighten, and it was frequently remarked by observers, that he must have been accustomed to the society and attentions of sisters perhaps at home. Ah! little did they dream of that loving group in their southern home, who day after day were waiting to hear news of that suffering brother,—news that never, never came!

My friend and myself visited him daily, doing all that we could to relieve him, but one day on making our accustomed visit, about two weeks after the battle, Sammy's place was occupied by another. The steward informed us that but a short time previous, Sammy called him, and on inclining his head to hear what he had to say, he clasped his arms about his neck—his last words, "Good bye, Harry—I am going." In a quiet, shady corner of the old German Reformed grave-yard, close to the school-house, is a "rebel grave." Let us draw near and read the inscription on the rough board, and then decide whether or not a rebel there lies buried:

GETTYSBURG.

A LARGE crowd of negroes, the other day, waylaid a passenger train on the Mobile and Girard Railroad, at Station No. 4, near Columbus, Georgia, and demanded free transportation to Columbus where they said there was to be a public meeting of "colored people," and a general distribution of property was to take place. They said they had been so informed by an officer of the Government, who had charged them each twenty-five cents for the information. The crowd was with difficulty got rid of, and several freight trains during the day were similarly waylaid. Northern Radical scamps who thus impose upon the ignorant darkies should be arrested and severely punished.

WHO ARE THE BEST BOYS.—A man once advertised for a boy to assist in the work of the shop and go errands, etc. A few hours after the morning papers announced that such a boy was wanted, his shop was thronged with applicants for the situation. Boys of every grade, from the neatly dressed intelligent youth, down to the ill-bred clumsy boor, came either in the hope of a situation or to see if an opportunity offered for a speculation.

The man, at a loss to decide among so many, determined to dismiss them all and adopt a plan which he thought might lessen the number and aid him in his difficult decision.

On the morning following an advertisement appeared in the papers, to this effect: "Wanted to assist in a shop, a boy who obeys his mother." Now, my little friends, how many boys think you, came to inquire for the situation after this advertisement appeared? If I am rightly informed, among all the lads of the great city, who were waiting the means of earning a living or getting a knowledge of business, there were but two who could fearlessly come forward and say, "I obey my mother."

A GOOD JOKE.—When I used to keep store in Syracuse, the old man came around one day, and says he:

"Boys, the one that sells most 'twixt now and Christmas, gets a vest pattern for a present."

May be we didn't work for that vest pattern! I tell you there were some tall stories told in praise of goods at that time. But the tallest talker, and the one that had more cheek than any of us, was a certain Jonah Squires, who roomed with me. He could take a dollar out of a man's pocket, when the man only intended to spend a sixpence. And the women—Lord bless you!—they just handed over their pocket books to him, and let him lay out what he pleased for them.

One night Jonah woke me up with—

"By Joe, old fellow, if you think that are's got any cotton in it, I'll bring down the sheep that it was cut from and make him swear to his own wool! T'won't wear out, either; I wore a pair of pants of that stuff for five years, and they're as good as when I first put 'em on! Take it at thirty cents, and I'll say you owe me nothing. Eh! too dear! Well, call it twenty-eight cents. What d'ye say?—Shall I tear it? All right, it's a bargain."

I could feel Jonah's hand playing about the bed clothes for an instant, then rip, tear, went something, and I had my head under the blankets, perfectly convulsed with laughter, and sure that Jonah had torn the sheet from top to bottom. When I woke up in the morning I found—alas! unkindest cut of all—that the back of my night shirt was split from tail to collar band.

KISSING.—Josh Billings says there is "one cold, blue, lean kiss, that always makes him shiver to see. Two persons (or the female persuasion,) who have witnessed a great many more younger and more pulpy daze, meet in sum public place; and not having saw each other for twenty-four hours, tha kiss immegiately—then tha tork about the weather and the young man that preached yesterday, and then tha kiss immegiately, and then tha blush and larf at what tha say to each other, and kiss immegiately. This kind of kissing olways puts me in mind of two old flints trying to strike fire."

CAUGHT WITH A LIVING WIDOW IN A RAILWAY CAR.—The elder Mr. Weller was caught in a railway car with a widow. Here is his account of it:

"It was on the rail," said Mr. Weller, with strong emphasis; "I was a-goin' down to Birmingham by the rail, and I was locked up in a close carriage with a living widder. Alone we was; the widder and me was alone; and I believe it was because we was alone and there was no clergyman in the conwayance, that that 'ere widder didn't marry me afore we reached the half way station. Ven I think how she began a screaming as we was goin' under tunnels in the dark—how she kept on a faintin', kitchin' hold o' me—and how I tried to burst open the door as was tight locked and perwented all escape. Ah! it was a awful thing—most awful!"

FELL ASLEEP.—The Norfolk Day Book tells the following:—A young gentleman from this city, who is deeply smitten with a young and fair damsel on Ferry Point, and who had fondly hoped that his ardent attachment was reciprocated, called on the fair Ferry Pointer yesterday. She looked lovely, and met him with such a smile that he supposed he had succeeded in awakening an interest for himself in her heart. Under this blissful delusion he sat down beside her, and with a tongue inspired with his own ardent feelings poured out his love in what he supposed was her willing ear! By the time he had gotten through with the recital of his own devotion, the lady was fast asleep, and the young gent retired, leaving this deeply interested (?) lady in the land of Nod. He declines to patronize the Ferry Point bridge any longer.

AN active officer who recently arrested a savage blow has since further distinguished himself by stopping a flying report and catching a violent cold.

A TEN years old girl at Groesbeckville, N. Y., was lately attacked, pursued some three miles and nearly killed by a raccoon.

THE DUTCHMAN'S BANK ACCOUNT.—During the money panic at San Francisco, a poor Dutchman, who had a couple of hundred dollars in Page, Bacon & Co.'s, drew it out, and after carrying it about an hour or two, thinking that Adams & Co. must be perfectly safe, deposited there; happening to hear some doubts expressed about them an hour later, he became alarmed, and drew it out again; took it to Wright's and opened a bank account with him; he had not gone ten yards from the door before he saw a man rushing to his office looking wild. The poor German thought the devil must be to pay there too, and forthwith drew a check for his two hundred. He continued to deposit and draw again at nearly every banking house in town, when getting tired out, and thoroughly in despair, sat down upon a curbstone, wiped the perspiration from his face and

☞A list of the Committee will be found in the proceedings of the County Convention, published in another column of this paper.

COUNTY TICKET.

The representatives of the Democracy of the several districts of this county met in Convention on Monday last, and nominated the ticket to be found at our mast-head. The gentlemen composing it are well and favorably known—known for their good standing, integrity, intelligence and capacity.

The re-nomination of Nicholas Heltzel, Esq., of Mountpleasant, for the Legislature, was a compliment well earned by his efficiency and fidelity during the last session. Such men are needed at Harrisburg to stay the tide of Radical corruption, and if a tax-ridden people desire the purification of the Legislature they must return a majority as watchful and conscientious as Mr. Heltzell has proven himself to be.

For County Commissioner, Jacob Lott, of Cumberland township, was selected. That he is admirably calculated for the post no one will dispute. He combines every qualification for an intelligent and efficient discharge of the duties of the office.

Henry J. Kuhn, of Oxford township, will make an excellent Jury Commissioner. He is well acquainted through the county, a fact not to be overlooked. That he will prove himself the right man for the place we can safely promise in advance.

Harvey D. Wattles, of Gettysburg, is very competent for County Treasurer. He is an old business man, knows how to do business, and will prove a satisfactory officer—equal to the best of his predecessors.

Martin Getz, of Hamilton township, will make a first-rate Director of the Poor, as all who know him will concede.

Martin E. Bollinger, of Union, is a very fine accountant, correct in everything, and will Audit the county accounts faithfully.

The ticket is a good one, and on the ground of qualification, deserves a handsome endorsement at the polls. But it is, besides, on the right platform—a white man's platform—and that should give it an unprecedented majority. Democrats and Conservatives, now to work, one and all! The times are full of danger, and we must present a solid front to the enemy. With organization and effort, we can sweep the county and the State. Fall into line, white men!—then forward! to the ballot box.

LINCOLN AGAINST NEGRO EQUALITY.

The Radicals are annually spending fifty millions of the people's money to establish, not only negro equality, but negro supremacy, in ten of the States of the Union. Let us apply to this infamous policy the language used by Abraham Lincoln, when he ran against Douglas for the United States Senate in Illinois. In his speech at Ottawa, the late President declared:

"I have no purpose to introduce political and social equality between the white and the black races. There is a physical difference between the two which, in my judgment, will forbid their ever living together upon the footing of perfect equality. * * I am not, nor ever have been, in favor of making voters or jurors of negroes, nor of qualifying them to hold office, or intermarry with white people; and I will say in addition to this, that there is a physical difference between the white and black races which, I believe, will forever forbid the two races living together on terms of social and political equality."

We trust that every honest Republican in Adams county will reflect upon what Mr. Lincoln said. The Radical leaders are determined to force "social and political equality" among the races, and the only way to check them is to defeat their tickets at the polls. The white men of the nation must now be true to themselves, and vote against Radicalism, no matter what guise it may present itself in.

THE Harrisburg Telegraph, the central organ of the Republican party in Pennsylvania, comes out squarely in favor of negro suffrage in this and all the Northern States, but it has not the honesty or manliness to advocate its submission to a vote of the people of the States to be affected thereby. It evidently fears the people, for it says "it is a question which, if debated, State by State, must arouse all the old and buried prejudices of the vulgar and ignorant." Hence, to get around the prejudices of the people, whom it designates as "vulgar and ignorant," it calls upon Congress to do by usurpation that which it fears the people of Pennsylvania and other Northern States would not do, if left free to act for themselves in the matter.

Pennsylvanians, will you endorse such damnable doctrine by voting for Radical candidates at the October election? We cannot believe that the people of the once proud and independent old Keystone State will so debase themselves as to sustain negro Radicalism any longer. It would be a crime against white manhood to do it.

EXIT SICKELS.—The cuckold satrap, Dan. Sickels, has been removed. There is an end of his lording it over the people of the South. General Canby, who takes his place, is said to be a gentlemen. President Johnson deserves the thanks of all decent people for making this change.

ON account of sickness Gen. Thomas was unable to supersede Satrap Sheridan, and General Hancock has been ordered to take the position.

AT the Buffalo race on the 14th, "Dexter" trotted his first mile in 2.20½, and, on the second trial, in 2.17¼. This is the best time in harness ever made, by 1¾ seconds. After the race he was sold to Robert Bonner, of the New York Ledger, for over thirty thousand dollars, and will be retired from the turf.

WHAT WE FOUGHT FOR, AND WHAT WE HAVE GOT.

No braver soldier than Gen. W. W. H. Davis went forth as a volunteer from Pennsylvania. He was one of the very first to take up arms, and the many wounds he received abundantly attest his bravery. In the following article from his paper, the Doylestown Democrat, he tells his surviving comrades what they fought for and shows them what they got. Let every soldier read it:

Never in the world was a people more deceived and swindled than ours in the result of the late unfortunate civil war. We fought for one thing and have got something else. When the war was begun the government made such solemn assurances that it was only to be waged to restore the Constitution and preserve the Union that the country believed it. The strong affection of the people for the Union of their fathers, which had conferred so many blessings on them and their children, made them willing to risk everything for its preservation. When the cry was raised that the South had unjustly taken up arms, to break up the Union and destroy the Constitution, our people, almost to a man, rose up to resist. The occasion struck deep into the great patriotic heart of the North, and the whole country gave up her men and means. The Union and the Constitution were the great battle cry, which resounded from the lakes to the Potomac, and from the St. John's to the Pacific. No one thought or talked of anything else—and the soldiers had no intention of fighting for anything else.* For the Union, fathers and mothers gave up their sons, sisters their brothers, and sweethearts their lovers. They blessed them when they went to the field, and offered them a willing sacrifice on the altar of the country. What else could they have done for a cause so sacred? For the Union men of all degrees submitted to the most onerous taxes and willingly gave of their abundant or scanty store, because they deemed it would advance the great cause and hasten the return of peace, prosperity and a united country. It is useless for us to call the attention of our readers to the sacrifices made by the North. We need only point to the half million of our sons and brothers slain in battle or maimed for life, and the three thousand millions of dollars spent from the wealth of the people, to say nothing of the agony and mourning all over the land. Here is the price we paid for a restored Union.

Have we got what we fought, and bled and suffered for? If we have, where is the Union that was to be made whole, and the Constitution that was to be restored? Have we got them? Alas, no! The one is hopelessly shattered, and the other is only known by the few fragments that "stick in the kidneys of some Senators." For all the blood and treasure we expended we have only the negro to show. We have got him at an enormous price, to be fed out of the public treasury and voted by the Bureau. He is to be made the ruler of the country, and the war has resulted in establishing eleven negro States in the South. In these States there is not a vestige of republican government left. Military despotism prevails everywhere, and neither Constitution nor laws protect the people from the tyranny of the despots that rule over them. The country could not have been in a worse condition if the Confederacy had been established. While we fought to make the foundations of Constitutional Liberty more enduring, we see the edifice pulled down and the corner stones digged up. The negro with the ballot in his hands is the only remedy offered to the American people to cure the serious ills that afflict the body politic. Talk of taxes, and we receive the answer of "universal suffrage." Complain of despotism and we are told "equality before the law," will set all things right. Ask for a restoration of the Union and the Constitution, and we are told to wait until the negro is secured in his rights.

Oh oppressed, and outraged, and taxridden people, how long will you submit to this state of things? Will you always be willing to receive a stone for the bread that belongs to you? When will you demand a fulfilment of the terms of the war bonds? If not paid soon let us sue it out in the great tribunal where such claims are adjudicated.

GEARY'S BEER-DRINKING AT ERIE.

E. E. Sturtznickel, the publisher of the German Spectator at Erie, is out in a card, in which he handles the English Republican paper of that city rather roughly, and does not spare that wonderful apostle of temperance, Governor Geary. The Spectator has heretofore advocated the cause of the Republican party, but it cannot endorse the display of puritanical fanaticism now being made by its leaders in this State and elsewhere. The attempt to make a political hobby of the temperance question is doing that praiseworthy movement great harm. No one believes in the honesty of the politicians who are attempting to manipulate the various temperance organizations. The initiation of Geary into the Order of Good Templars with a loud flourish of trumpets was a piece of the most transparent clap-trap. The editor of the Spectator was the President of the German Society in whose company Geary drank his lager, and toasted his German fellow-citizens of Erie. He concludes the article to which we referred in the beginning as follows:

Governor Geary basely betrayed his German friends when he gave his assurances that no proscriptive or prohibitory laws would get his sanction. The readiness with which he broke this promise and signed these laws, and especially his late course when he addressed a convention of Good Templars in Harrisburg, saying that he hadn't drank a drop of spirituous beverage since his seventh year and also that the associations now being formed against the secret lodges of temperance men were base and abominable. The Germans found out they were badly "sold" by him. This could not be foreseen and it does not follow at all that it is inconsistent on the part of the undersigned, because he censures the Governor for the course he now takes.

Geary had a right to drink lager beer with the Germans of Erie, and he had a right to make a parade of joining the Good Templars after he thought he saw a chance to make political capital by so doing. But was it right for him to pledge himself against a prohibitory liquor law to secure the German vote, and then to abandon his pledge on the very first opportunity; was it manly in him to stand up before a temperance gathering and assert that he had not tasted liquor since he was seven years old, when he must have known that there were hundreds of men in the State who stood ready to convict him of telling a lie for political effect? What a contemptible creature he must be.—Lancaster Intelligencer.

THE GERMAN RADICALS LEAVING THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.—At a German meeting held in Chicago, the other night, Herman Raster, editor of the Illinois Staats Zeitung, made a speech. Referring to the fanaticism of the Radical party, he said: "As he had advised his German friends to leave the Democratic party, in 1854, as eagerly would he now advise his German fellow Republicans of 1867 to part company with a party that has recklessly adulterated its national programme by New England sectionalism." The Germans are rapidly cutting loose from Radicalism.

THE strong ticket nominated by the Democratic Convention on Monday has entirely spoiled the calculations of the Radical leaders. They chuckled no little the week before, and "figured" up a very "big muss," for them to take advantage of; but their calculations have since undergone a wonderful change—so great, indeed, as to have made observers to believe that the Radical slate has been broken altogether. Sharp fellows, those leaders—at figures!

Resolved, That we are opposed to the reconstruction policy of the present Congress, believing that it will result in a revolution which will overturn the Constitution, and establish a despotism in the place of free government, and that the reduction of the Southern States to territories is opposed not only to the plain provisions of the Constitution, but to every sound idea of practical statesmanship.

Resolved, That we are opposed to Negro Suffrage, Negro Equality, or Negro Supremacy in every way, shape, and manner, now, henceforth and forever, believing that this is a White man's government, and that it must and shall be governed by white men to the end of time.

Resolved, That the Legislature of Pennsylvania, under a Republican Governor and with a Republican majority in both branches, has by its outrageous extravagance, disregard of public interests and wholesale bribery and corruption, been a reproach to the State; and that a thorough and complete reformation is demanded, which can only be effected by the election of honest men, who will not be controlled by improper influences and who cannot be bought and sold.

Resolved, That the failure of the Legislature to afford relief to the border sufferers for damages sustained during the war, is justly chargeable to the Radicals who had the power and refused to use it.

Resolved, That we approve of the honest and patriotic course of our Representative, Nicholas Heltzel, Esq., generally, and especially his indefatigable efforts on the Relief bill.

AN investigation ordered by General Schofield has resulted in the discovery of the fact that a secret military organization of formidable strength exists among the negroes of Virginia, extending into every county of the State. Great alarm exists among the whites, who have neither organization nor arms. It is more than evident that this negro conspiracy has been formed or at least encouraged by Radicals, in order that the whites might be massacred and exterminated by the negroes.

THERE is no foundation for the sensational story about the members of the Cabinet having tendered their resignations.

Local Department.

TOWN, COUNTY AND SURROUNDING COUNTIES.

The Compiler for the Campaign.—Only Twenty-five Cents!—We will furnish the COMPILER (large as it now is) at the low figure of 25 cents for the campaign, ending with the issue of October 11. "Circulate the documents!" The COMPILER stands by the white race against the mongrelism which Radical leaders are endeavoring to establish in this country, and will resist the infamous design at every point. White men everywhere must arouse to thwart the aims of the Radical fanatics and demagogues, and no better help can be found than the circulation of newspapers published in the interest of the white man. The COMPILER is doing, and will continue to do, its share.

Forty Years Ago.—Having never seen the early files of the COMPILER, it was quite a treat to us, the other day, to get sight of a number of the paper printed in November, 1827—nearly forty years ago—the copy having been brought to our office by an old friend in the country, who had preserved it ever since its date. It has but five columns to the page, and they only seventeen inches long. The subscription price was $2 in advance—the same at which our large sheet is now furnished.

We have been greatly interested by the contents of the old number before us. Although it has no "local column," (an indispensable department now-a-days,) we find much in it of a local bearing. For instance, under the marriage head, it is recorded that Mr. Christian Rindlaub, of Germany township, was united in the bonds of holy wedlock to Sophia Mummert, of Straban township; Mr. John Steary to Miss Catharine Fidler, both of Menallen; and Mr. David Gross, of Adams county, to Miss Hannah Knepper, of Franklin county. The death of Mr. Christian Benner, of Straban township, in his 60th year, is published; also that of Elizabeth Beecher, daughter of Mr. David Beecher, of Franklin township, in the 13th year of her age.

The jury list for November term is given, as follows: Grand Jury—Quintain Armstrong, Moses Jenkins, Samuel Cobean, Wm. McGaughy, Jr., Andrew Walker, Robert M. Hutchinson, Jacob Housel, Samuel Knisely, George Clark, Christian King, John Brough, Samuel Blake, John Winrott, David Zuck, Ludwig Study, Samuel Witherow, William Douglass, John Myers, James L. Neely, George Hartzell, Abraham Trostle, Samuel Carpenter, Robert Young, John Cobean. General Jury—James Majors, Martin Boyer, of Isaac, Nicholas Bushey, Michael Bushey, David Stewart, George Group, Adam Carl, George Baugher, George Slagle, Philip Kohler, Robert Ewing, James Galbraith, John Mickley, Jr., David McMillan, George Irwin, Benjamin Bowers, John Toland, Henry Bushong, Wm. E. Camp. George Smyser, John Galloway, Jacob Dellone, John Cook, James McLain, Philip Group, Wm. Thompson, Henry McDivit, James Bigham, Isaac Treat, Jacob Ritzell, Jacob Fidler, Wm. Widner, Samuel Patterson, Francis Leas, John Brough, John Tate.

Abel I. Thomas offered his tan-yard and farm of 160 acres, in Menallen township, at public vendue; Jacob Weaver and Catharine Weaver, Executors, offered the farm of Samuel Weaver, deceased, 175 acres, in Straban township, on the Hunterstown road; and Sheriff Philip Heagy advertised the farm of James Hall, in Cumberland township, 286 acres. John Agnew wanted one or two journeymen boot and shoemakers; Geo. Arnold had a nearly half-column store advertisement; W. N. Irvine and Willet C. Ogilby their lawyer's cards; whilst Frederick Eyholtz announced that a stray bull came to his premises "some time in April last."

The paper also contains the proceedings of a meeting "favorable to a general distribution of the Bible," presided over by Rev. Wm. Runkel, and participated in by Rev. Dr. Paxton, Rev. D. McConaughy, Rev. Robert S. Grier and Professor Schmucker.

We find also the proceedings of a meeting in favor of the re-election of John Quincy Adams, held at the house of Zephaniah Herbert, in Gettysburg, and presided over by James Renshaw. John S. Crawford, Dr. D. G. Pfeiffer and Henry Shriver reported the resolutions. The COMPILER warmly supported Jackson.

These are the more interesting points in the old number before us, which we have perused with genuine satisfaction.

Needed.—Those indebted on our books are asked to give us a lift immediately. The money is greatly NEEDED—every cent of it. Our outlays have been heavy, (and still are,) and the only way we can square up is to get in what is due us.—Friends in arrears, please act promptly. Don't put off payment until next week, or next year—but do it at once—now. The mails are open to everybody, and money may be remitted at our risk.—Send it "right along.

Prolific Oats.—Mr. George Fiscel, tenant on one of Mr. Wm. Culp's farms, in "Carroll's Tract," brought to our office, the other day, two enormous heads of Oats, one containing 365 and the other 367 grains. It was of the variety known as "side oats." Can anybody beat our friend Fiscel in this line!

Horse Stolen.—A bright bay horse, about 14 hands high, four years old, with heavy mane, and light tail, was stolen on Saturday night last, from Adj't. Jacob W. Cress, of Straban township. The Straban Mutual Horse-thief Detecting Society offer $100 reward for the recovery of the animal, and the conviction of the thief. The thief was tracked below Abbottstown.

Accident.—Mr. Jesse Bucher, Jr., of Straban township, while shelling corn with a corn-sheller, recently had one of his fingers terribly mashed by being caught in the machinery.

Another Accident.—On Friday last, George Codori, aged about 14 years, son of Nicholas Codori, Jr., of this place, was kicked by a horse in the face, severely cutting it on the left side and breaking the lower jaw. He walked to Dr. C. Horner's office, who promptly dressed the wound, the boy manifesting extraordinary fortitude throughout. We are glad to learn that he is doing well.

Flood at York.—The Codorus, at York, rose to an extraordinary height yesterday week, and much damage resulted. The Gazette says the water was higher than at any time since the ice flood of February, 1822. No lives were lost, but several persons escaped drowning almost miraculously.

Remember that, though greatly enlarged, the COMPILER is published at the old rate of $2 in advance. Now is the time to subscribe!

More Suffering, Sorrow and Death, are the results of Indigestion and Dyspepsia than from all other known diseases. Coe's Dyspepsia Cure is a sure and immediate remedy. It will stop distress after eating as soon as you take it.

The Agricultural Fair.—All necessary progress is being made with the work on the Fair Ground, to insure its completion in good time. The well is done, and first-rate water secured: the spring in the rear has been walled, and proves to be a stronger stream than was anticipated; the lake, for watering horses and cattle, is full, and another will be made by Fair-time—so that plenty of water may be counted among the certainties. The main building will be under roof next week, and work on the shedding is going on finely. The track is being scraped and rolled, and is pronounced by everybody a first-class half-mile course.

The prospect is good for a large exhibition of animals and articles—but the preparations cannot be too general or extensive in this respect. The Grounds are among the largest and the buildings roomy—so that any number of exhibitors may be accomodated. Farmers, mechanics,—ladies—everybody—who may have, or may prepare, something of merit, should be sure to exhibit it. No entry fee charged.

The following regulations have been adopted by the Board of Managers, and published with the Premium List. We insert them here for more general information—as follows:

All awarded premiums uncalled for, for thirty days after the close of the Fair, shall be deemed donated to the Society.

Premiums shall not be awarded when the animal or the article is deemed unworthy.

All articles must be marked with cards, which will be furnished by the Secretary, designating class and number; and these cards must not be removed until after the Awarding Committee have finished their examinations.

The Executive Committee will take every possible precaution for the safe keeping of all articles on exhibition, after their arrival and arrangement, but the Society will not be responsible for any loss or damage that may occur. They desire exhibitors to give personal attention to their animals or articles, and at the close of the Fair attend to their removal.

No animal or article shall be taken out of the Fair Grounds without the leave of the President.

Exhibitors are expected to obey the Marshals promptly in producing their stock, when instructed to do so; and any person proving refractory will be ruled out from competing.

No animal or article will be assigned a place on the grounds until the entries are made, as the regulations of the Society require.

Persons renting refreshment booths will not be permitted to sell intoxicating drinks.

Any person found intoxicated upon the Fair Grounds, or acting in a disorderly manner, shall be immediately ejected from the grounds.

A prompt and severe example will be made of any fraudulent use of Admission Tickets.

Any person attempting to interfere with the judges, in their adjudications, will be promptly excluded from competition.

Should any doubt arise as to the regularity of the entry or any other important matter which the committee feel incompetent to decide, they may at once report the same to the President.

The prices of admission to the Fair will be the same as they were at Bendersville, viz:

Family Tickets, admitting man, wife, unmarried daughters, and minor sons, or one gentleman and lady, during the Fair,	$1 00
Footmen, single admission,	25
Children under ten years of age,	Free
One man and horse, single admission,	50
One-horse buggy or pleasure vehicle, gentleman and lady, single admission,	75

Pleasure tickets, admitting one-horse buggy or pleasure vehicle, gentleman and lady during the Fair, in addition to family ticket,	50

Applicants for pleasure tickets required to give evidence that they have obtained family tickets.

Pleasure admission tickets required to be tied to the right hand side of the horse's head, to avoid detention at the gate.

Pleasure vehicles strictly required to keep upon the grounds assigned them by the Board of Managers, and enter the Ring only at the times designated by the Marshal.

"Uncle Jake."—The following article, from the Reading Gazette, we place in our local columns because the subject of it was born here, and has among us many relatives and acquaintances, who, whilst they will regret his bad luck, will still be glad to know that he is not disposed to "knock under to trifles."—We congratulate the fraternity upon his return to the chair editorial. The Gazette says:

Col. Jacob Ziegler—"Uncle Jacob," as his million of friends familiarly call him—after swinging around the circle of public life for twenty-five or thirty years, has at last dropped down at the point from which he started—a printing office. In other words, he has become one of the publishers of the Butler Democratic Herald. In a short introductory article, he relates his experiences, political, financial, oleaginous and otherwise, the sum and substance of which amount to this: "I did well—wanted to do better—'struck ile,' and—here I am." Uncle Jacob acknowledges that he has been floored. But he is not the sort of man to be kept down by any combination of circumstances. He has taken a fresh start, and will soon catch up with the deceitful 'world" that has got ahead of him. Like a true philosopher, he accepts the situation, and, with stoical fortitude, grins and bears it. Hear him:

"We say to all, if it is desirable to see how a man, who has figured somewhat prominently in the political and financial world, can good humoredly and without complaint come down to honest labor, let them call at the Herald office and their desire will be gratified."

Uncle Jacob does not name the price of admission to his Show. But we suppose it is "Two Dollars a year in advance."

"Uncle Jacob" has our best wishes for "health, happiness and prosperity."—May his broad shadow never grow less!

Alumni Addresses.—The Lutheran and Missionary, published at Philadelphia, thus notices the Alumni addresses at the recent Commencement here. The language is not more severe than just:

There were two addresses delivered, one to the Alumni of the Seminary, and one to the Alumni of the College. To those who have a greater taste for partizan politics and for negro literature than we profess, we transfer the duty of passing judgment upon their merits. But no considerations, not even those of high personal regard, long and fondly cherished as they have been and still are, shall prevent us from bearing our earnest testimony against everything like a burlesque of God's inspired word, and especially in a place of Christian worship, and in the sacred desk. True, the devil got even into Paradise; and he is sometimes himself transformed into an angel of light. No marvel, then, that he should, here and there, so deceive an otherwise intelligent and amiable man, as to employ him as the instrument for so distorting and burlesquing the record which inspiration gives of his own first great crime against our race, that an assembly of Christian people, in a moment of excitement, will be all convulsed with a storm of profane and thoughtless laughter. But it is a thing to be protested against by all who hold God's word as sacred; and we doubt not that in this protest we have the sympathy of the officers of that church, and the associated occupants of that pulpit.

THE only spot on earth in a worse condition than Mexico is Tennessee.

Verdict guilty, but motion for new trial entered.

Com. vs. Joseph Snow—Malicious mischief, in disfiguring horse of Elizabeth Shunk. Defendant plead guilty, and sentenced to the House of Refuge.

A number of petty criminal cases were privately settled by the parties, and do not appear of record.

The Grand Jury reported favorably on an application for a Bridge over Opossum Creek, in Menallen township, at Eppelman's mill.

Restaurant licenses were granted to John E. Ilgenfritz and to John Hoffman, both in Gettysburg.

White Cranes.—On Wednesday week, four large White Cranes made their appearance in the meadow of James A. Marshall, in Hamiltonban township. Henry Hull pursued them with a gun, and succeeded in shooting one. It measured four feet six inches from tip to tip of the wings, and three feet in length.

Revenue Tax.—The Collector of Revenue Taxes will be here on the 10th and 11th of next month to receive taxes.

The Zouaves will be out in full dress parade on Saturday, September 7, at 1 o'clock, P. M.

Farm Sold.—John F. Houck, Executor of Jacob Fidler, deceased, last week sold the farm of said decedent, 150 acres, in Tyrone township, to Wm. Bringman, of York county, for $4,000 cash.

Local Papers.—There are many persons who either take no paper at all, or else take one from a distant city, and when they wish to see what is transpiring in their own neighborhood, they beg a local paper from some citizen more liberal than themselves. Many men of this kind are engaged in business, and frequently grumble because people don't patronize "home industry," when they practice the very thing of which they complain.

Wine.—A gentleman in New Jersey, named Speer, is cultivating the Port grape with signal success, from which an excellent wine is made, which is better than imported Port, and has been adopted for medicinal purposes in the hospitals of New York, Philadelphia and Washington.

THE Maryland State Constitutional Convention has adjourned, after preparing a new Constitution, which will be submitted to the people on September 18th, and will go into operation on October 5th. There is no doubt about its ratification by a large majority, as it is framed in accordance with the views of the people. Under the new Constitution a general election will take place in November.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The rain of yesterday and the night before has done much damage to the crops, bridges, etc., in the vicinity of Washington.

Yesterday afternoon the Rockville stage, in crossing a ford about four miles from this city, on its way hither, was washed down the stream by the force of the current.

The driver and another man cleared themselves from the stage and swam ashore, but three ladies, passengers, were drowned.

Blood Heat.

People will display imprudences, whether in cold or warm weather, by improper diet. At the present time of writing, with the thermometer almost up to "blood heat," the drinking of large quantities of iced or cold water when hot and thirsty, perspiration suddenly suppressed by a draught, and the intermingling of all kinds of hearty food and fruit, cause distress and make disease upon the system. Hardly a person of either sex escapes. Doubtless the best remedy for attacks or pain is Radway's Ready Relief, used in almost every family on the face of the globe, and with entire satisfaction. The records show of millions of lives saved by it during its existence. Nothing could be better for Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramps, Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Croup, Toothache, Tic Doloureux, Chilblains, Fever, Headache, Inflammation, Sour Stomach, Hysteria, Stiff Joints, Falls and Accidents, Cuts, Sprains, Colics, Cholera, Cholera Morbus, &c. Thirty drops in a tumbler half full of water, cause powerful pains almost instantaneously.

It is perfectly innocent to take internally, if used according to the directions, and never fails, as thousands can attest. Every one who has once used it, continues to do so, and recommend it to their friends as the most valuable medicine extant. Certificates enough to fill a dozen newspapers have been received by Dr. Tobias. His medicine, the Venitian Liniment, will do all that is stated, and more. No one will regret trying it. GRAND JURY REPORT.

TO the Honorable the Judges of the Court of Quarter Sessions.

The Grand Inquest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, inquiring in and for the county of Adams, at August Sessions, 1867, beg leave to report:

That we visited the Alms House and County Jail. We found the paupers well provided for, the buildings clean and neat, and everything comfortable. The fencing has been much improved around the premises. The steward deserves the thanks of the people of the county for his attention and care. We would recommend that the Bake House be remodled and raised one story, and coal be used in the oven instead of wood.

At the Jail we found the rooms clean, the prisoners comfortable, the sheriff obliging and careful—and would recommend that some improvement be made in preventing the escape of prisoners, at the back wall of the front building, by placing iron railing, with spears, on the wall, or raising the wall.

AMERICAN

BEE HIVE.

AS there were some disappointments last season by parties who gave long a supply of the AMERICAN BEE BOXES, the undersigned is desirous that orders be handed in in time, so that every body wanting them may be accommodated without fail. He will be at the Fair at Gettysburg, during the entire four days, to receive orders. It is not deemed necessary to enter into a description of this very valuable Hive, as it has been tried and found thoroughly satisfactory. Pacific Guano Company's SOLUBLE PACIFIC GUANO.

JOHN S. REESE & CO.,
Wholesale Agents for Company.

THE very extended use of this Guano throughout the country renders it unnecessary to say more this season, than its composition and quality are precisely the same as that heretofore sold by us for the Company.

We have sold this Guano from the beginning under a regular system of rigid inspection, at an expense to the Company of many hundreds of dollars annually. This is done for the protection alike of the consumer and the Company, as it is manifest to all who understand the trade in fertilizers, that it cannot be safely conducted on any other principle. The importance and extent of the trade demands this protection.

We are prepared to exhibit Dr. A. Snowden Piggot's certificate of inspection for every cargo sold. Consumers must observe the name of JOHN S. REESE & Co. branded on the bags, none other genuine.

Secure a Large Wheat Crop

BY USING

BAUGH'S RAW BONE PHOSPHATE.

WHICH contains by analysis of Prof. A. Snowden Piggott,

3.75 per cent. of Ammonia and
32.57 " Bone Phosphate of Lime, besides over 14 per cent. of Soluble Salts.

This article stands prominent on the list of valuable Fertilizers, years of trial having gained for it an enviable reputation.

Being made from Raw Bones, which contain all their original organic matter, it retains the Durable Properties of Bone, and while it produces large crops, it renovates and permanently improves the soil.

A TRIAL OF IT IS ALL THAT IS NEEDED to convince any one of its great merits.

The public are cautioned against several spurious imitations of this article called "Raw Bone," "Raw Bone Phosphate," &c. Many Farmers have been greatly deceived by purchasing them. Be sure to specify "BAUGH'S."

It is packed in Bags and Barrels, and is prepared in a fine powder suitable for drilling.

HOW THE RAIN FALLS.

Where does rain come from? You answer, "From the clouds." But where do the clouds come from? You may think the wind blows them over you. But if it blows clouds over you from somewhere else, it also blows them from over you on a clear day as on a cloudy or rainy day. On a fair day, when no clouds are seen, the water is divided up into such small particles, that it does not obstruct the sun's light, and so you see no clouds or water. A change of temperature in the atmosphere, as when a warmer and colder current of air meet, causes the small particles of water to unite in pairs, and the pairs unite, and these quadruple drops unite, and so on until hundreds or thousands of the small, invisible particles unite in one, and even then that one may be many hundred times smaller than a pin's head. A mass of these combined drops, which are still small enough to float in air, refracts, or bends out of their course so many of the sun's rays that they stop and often darken its light. It is thus that clouds gather in a clear sky. When enough drops unite to make one too heavy to float in the air, it begins to fall. It meets and unites with many others in falling, and often so many unite that great rain drops are formed by the time they get to the ground. Each large drop is made up of thousands, perhaps millions, of the small drops that float in the unseen air in a clear sky.

SHEEP CHEESE.—We are in the habit of believing that Yankees are sharp when money is to be made; but they cannot begin with the patient, saving, flint-skinning Europeans. The English, and even the Scoth, are improvident and wasteful in comparison. For instance, what Yankee would ever think of milking his sheep? But at Paris, in the Exhibition, is a sample flock of sheep-kept expressly for milking; and their milk is more profitable than the wool or mutton. One company in the department of Avignon makes of the milk of sheep four million pounds of cheese a year, which is sent all over the world from Bucharest, in Roumania, to New York, whence it is distributed, no doubt, over the Western continent. It is also sent direct to China and South America. This is the much admired Roquefort cheese. It is made with great care, and ripened in extensive caves of a perfectly even temperature, a model of which forms one of the features of the Exhibition. We have no recollection that our model farmers in this country have turned their attention to milking sheep. It seems it is a very profitable business. We learn that Mr. Henry Ten Eyck, of Cazenovia, is about to introduce the milking process in his flock of five thousand sheep on his farm in Iowa. We wait with anxiety to learn the result.—Albany (N. Y.) Knickerbocker.

IMPROVING MANURE.—Joseph Harris, in his Walks and Talks, says: "We are making a cellar under the old barn. The soil is very dry, and I spread a few cart loads of it on the top of the manure in the wettest parts of the barnyard. I was astonished at the effect. It absorbed the moisture and made a dryer surface for the cattle, far sooner and better than a good layer of straw. Of course we want some straw as well, but it is evident to me that a few cart loads of dry sand, or what is far better, dry muck, would save a good deal of straw in littering yards and stalls. Sand, too, when mixed with manure, has the effect of increasing fermentation. Prof. Way's experiments proved this to be the case to an extent far greater than any one had previously thought possible. In our cold climate, where it is difficult to get manure ready for spring crops, a little sand scattered occasionally on the manure yard would increase fermentatition and prove beneficial."

WHEAT FOR A BARREL OF FLOUR.—The question, how much wheat does it take to make a barrel of flour? is often asked, and the awnswer is of a general character, "five bushels are allowed." At the annual Fair of the Dubuque County Agricultural Society, in 1866, a premium of $3 was offered for the best barrel of flour made from winter wheat, and also the same from spring wheat. A firm entered one barrel of each, accompanied with the statement that sixteen bushels of winter wheat yieldsed three barrels and one hundred and three pounds of flour—at the rate of four bushels and fifteen pounds of wheat to the barrel. Of spring wheat fifty bushels yield eleven barrels of flour, being four bushels and thirty-two pounds to the barrel. The wheat was a fair quality and no more.

HOW TO PURIFY TAINTED CASKS.—A correspondent of the Country Gentleman tells us how he does this: "Having had some sad experience with both pork and lard, I tried the experiment of putting a small armful of dry shavings in the cask, and setting them on fire. The result was that the grease, and all other impurities absorbed by the wood of the cask, was brought to the surface and burned. It can then be washed perfectly clean, and will be as good as new. The shavings should be kept moving by rolling the cask and stirring, that the fire may not burn the cask, and that the fire may search every part. Good for rancid lard-tubs and butter-firkins."

FRENCH ROLLS.—Boil one pint of milk, cut up two ounces of butter into it, add a little salt; when tepid sift in one dound of flour, one egg beaten, one table spoonful of yeast; beat these well together; when risen, form into rolls with as little handling as possible. Bake on tins.
